

Chamber Of Commerce Elects Officers Wed.

Campbell Chamber of Commerce elected a new president and secretary, returned its treasurer and five directors to office and heard a number of important reports Wednesday noon.

Ira H. Grim, president, who has led the Chamber of Commerce through one of its most crucial years, and who was urged to remain in office by members, directors and in an urgent plea from the floor, asked for the election of a new president. He will retire at the December meeting.

Under Mr. Grim's leadership, the Chamber has grown to more than 115 members and has played a leading role in civic affairs. Sponsorship of elections both last year and this so that Campbellites might vote on the issue of incorporation was foremost among the accomplishments of his regime. Others are the installation of lighted highway signs, arrangements for new street lighting for Campbell, support of the Community Chest and other campaigns.

With cooperation of the County Board of Supervisors, Chamber of Commerce action has resulted in increasing the number of lighted intersections in the entire Campbell area from 33 to 70. Installation has been started and is due to be completed within a short time.

Permission of the Supervisors was also granted for stop signs along Campbell avenue, to be installed by Jan. 1 by the California State Auto Association.

This year some 70 business men contributed to a fund for special Christmas street lights to symbolize the Yule spirit along Campbell Avenue and Winchester road.

In addition, William C. Henley, superintendent of Campbell Union Grammar school, announced at the Wednesday meeting that the schools plan to contribute materials for the Christmas-lighting of the big evergreen in front of the grammar school for the holiday season.

Under Mr. Grim's guidance the Chamber has served as a center of civic interest in public issues. A second registration place for prospective voters was recently obtained to supplement registration service provided through the Farley Real Estate office.

Mrs. Viola Conley, retiring secretary, will be succeeded by F. A. Reese who was elected Wednesday.

Harry D. Blanchard of The Campbell Press was elected to the presidency Wednesday. He has been active in community affairs since assuming the management of the Press Sept. 1 and his background includes an active role in the communities of the San Fernando valley, and other California localities.

Other officers named for the coming year were Forrest Reese, secretary, and Rachel Spradling, treasurer. Directors will be Walter Silberbauer, William Henley, A. M. Conley, Ben Strong and Gus Standish.

Mr. Reese is past commander of the American Legion Post 937, Toledo, O.; past master of Fort Lawrence Lodge 685, Masonic order, Toledo; Chef de Train of Voiture 365, Santa Clara County Forty & Eight, American Legion, and active in the Legion post here.

Proposed revision of C. of C. by-laws, read by Mr. Henley Wednesday, will be voted upon at the December meeting.

The Footlighters will be asked to present a play on Old Settlers Day next February 23.

Schools Ask State Aid For Building

If the request is granted, additions to and improvements in the present schools of the district will be started at once.

Tonkin, Helen Doerr, J. Allinger, C. E. Williams, L. J. Carboni, and Mr. D. H. Cramer and Ray Fish.

Physicians Pledge Support For O'Connor $3,000,000 Building Fund Campaign

Members of the Santa Clara County Medical Society have pledged their wholehearted support to O'Connor Hospital's valley-wide campaign to raise funds toward construction of a modern eight-story, $3,000,000 hospital to replace the present out-moded structure which has been in use since 1889. Dr. J. B. Josephson, president of the medical society, announced the organizations' council had adopted a resolution urging all members to support the campaign as fully as possible.

Three hundred physicians and surgeons from valley cities and communities make up the society's membership. Included on the roster are the names of three Campbell doctors

Following adoption of the resolution supporting the O'Connor campaign, Dr. Josephson wrote to Sister Berenice, Sister Superior of the hospital, assuring her the doctors "will themselves support your campaign to the fullest extent possible."

O'Connor Hospital has an active campaign under way to raise funds toward erection of the new O'Connor's, which will provide facilities for 300 patients.

The public is being asked to contribute only half the necessary money, however. The Sisters of Charity, who have administered the hospital during its 58 years of service to valley residents, will match with an equal sum any amount between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000 which the public gives.

Kick-off for the campaign was Thursday, Nov. 13, when the 200 members of central committee held a luncheon in Hotel Sainte Claire in San Jose. Committeemen went into action that afternoon, seeking subscriptions to meet their $1,000,000 quota.

Honorary chairman of the campaign is the Most Reverend J. J. Mitty, archbishop of San Francisco. General chairman is Patrick H. Peabody, valley publisher. David C. Kirby, San Jose attorney, heads central committee.

Dr. Josephson, in his letter to Sister Berenice of O'Connor's, said: "We are very pleased to learn that O'Connor Hospital is about to go ahead with its plans for expansion. The hospital facilities survey made two years ago by the Medical Society and the San Jose Chamber of Commerce clearly showed, as you know, the urgent

Bucs Meet Tigers Friday Night

The Campbell high Bucs will go against the San Jose Tech Tigers at Spartan Stadium Friday night at 8 p. m.

The Tigers dumped Campbell last year 19-14. This year Tech has beaten Gilroy 34-6, Pacific Grove 14-6 and Menlo 27-0. They have been defeated by South City 12-6, Carmel 44-0, Washington 31-0 and King City 41-14.

The Campbell varsity is yet to be defeated, the only blemish being an 8-8 tie with the powerful Santa Clara panthers. The Bucs have beaten Carmel 19-13, Gilroy 33-0, Fremont 19-6, Mt View 27-7 and Washington 19-10.

Campbell rates a slight edge over the Techsters, the tipoff may be that Carmel beat Tech 44-0 and the Bucs beat Carmel 19-13.

The starting lineup for Campbell is as follows: L. E. J. Holt; L. T. Whitmore, L. G. Wingartner; C. Corsiglia; R. G. Flagg; R. T. Galia; R. E. Herschbach; Q. B. Merrill; R. H. Holt or Abernante; C. H. Orcutt and Wilson at F. B.

The Campbell attack is paced by a rugged line with Wingartner, Holt and Whitmore leading the way.

No Action Taken On Bank Here

Painters, carpenters and brick-masons moved in on the historic building at the southwest corner of Central and Campbell avenues this week, to give it a thorough renovating.

When insignia of the former occupants, Campbell Products Corp., were taken down, the words "Bank of Campbell" stood out plainly above the door and raised hopes that an early announcement by the U. S. Comptroller of Currency, Washington, D.C., or by California State banking commission of San Francisco, would lead to the early re-opening of banking services here.

Last Wednesday evening, no official action had been taken on requests filed by two local groups with the comptroller and with the state banking commission. The office of the state bank examiner, San Francisco, said Tuesday that the matter is expected to be decided in the near future.

Bank of America made re-application recently for a branch bank in Campbell and their petition for government-insured bank-

Incorporation Registration Set

Campbell voters who are not at present registered for the election on incorporation of the City of Campbell, can now have their names added to the roll of qualified voters at either the G. E. Farley office, Campbell at Central avenues, or at Clark's Drug Store, Campbell at Harrison.

The second registration place, obtained Nov. 21 through efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the election, allows for registration of voters between the hours of 9 a.m. and 8 p.m.

A slate of candidates to form the first local government is to be voted upon at the same time ballots are cast on incorporation.

The Santa Clara County Board of Supervisors is expected to set the election date when they meet Nov. 28 at a public hearing on the proposed boundaries.

No candidates have been announced to date, although it is understood that names will be proposed in the near future. Speculation sets the election date early in January.

All organizations of the district were asked to suggest the names of candidates, but tabulation of these requests is not yet complete.

Theater, PTA Work Together On Children's Films

Cooperation between the community and the movies was stressed at a meeting called Monday afternoon by Campbell Coordinating Council and attended by members of Parent-Teacher and other organizations and the manager of the local theater.

First steps were begun toward bringing a series of Hollywood's most famous moving picture stories here for special Saturday showing. Among the titles available for release are "The Prince and the Pauper" and "Huck Finn." They are part of a Children's Film Library set up by Eric Johnson and the state PTA.

Methods of teaching movie-evaluation in the schools and of informing parents of the quality of pictures to be shown were described. Under the latter plan, each movie would be reviewed in advance of local showing with an indication of its age-group appeal.

Art Tindall, Recreation Program director for the Council, presided at the meeting. Group representatives were Mrs. Ann Gardner, Mrs. Ray Wood, Rev. Lawrence J. Osborn, Rev. Dennis Kennelly, Mrs. H. C. Gilbert, Mrs. Clara Peterson, William Henley, principal of Campbell Grammar school, and Vern Balcom, manager of Campbell Theater.

Big Game Time Again -- Indians Tamed But Plan Fight To Finish With Bears

90,000 TO ATTEND -- ALL SEATS ARE SOLD

It's Big Game time again! And that means 90,000 fans will gather in Stanford Stadium next Saturday afternoon to witness the fiftieth annual meeting of Stanford and California football teams.

In spite of the fact that the Golden Bears are prohibitive favorites to win, the huge bowl will be filled to capacity. Of the forty-nine games played, Stanford has won twenty-three, California eighteen, and eight have resulted in ties. Strangely enough, going into the fiftieth contest of the Big Series, only one point separates the two, in aggregate score. The Indians have 534 points to their credit and the Bears have scored 533.

California has not won since 1941. The redskins took the last pre-war game in 1942 by a score of 26-7, and topped their rivals 25-6 last year, in the first post-war meeting. There were no games in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

The Bears, with a powerful veteran line and dangerous backfield have a tremendous personnel advantage, and are expected to win by a comfortable margin. The Indians, pursued by bad luck since long before the season opened, have showed steady improvement but few critics give them even an outside chance in Saturday's game.

Stanford hung up the biggest winning margin in 1930, with a 41-0 victory. California took the tightest contest, 2-0, in 1901. There have been many memorable battles between the two rivals since they first met in 1892 but none is more famous than the great 20-20 tie in 1924. In that game, the Indians overcame a 20-6 deficit to knot the score in the dying moments. The late Murray Cutting,

Cutting Sons

Both M. D.'s

Dr. Windsor Cutting returned Monday from Chicago. He reports that there was snow from Ogden through to Iowa and what California would call cold weather on the Great Lakes. He is a member of the Therapeutics Trials Committee of the Council on Pharmacy and Chemistry of the American Medical Association and met Dr. Fishbein of the A.M.A.

Dr. Cecil Cutting has recently established offices in connection with the Permanente Hospital in San Francisco. The two doctors are brothers, both graduates of Campbell high school, and both have recently purchased new homes; Windsor at Los Altos back of and adjoining the Stanford farm, and Cecil in the hills back of Orinda on the opposite side of the bay. Both now work in San Francisco, sons of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cutting.

A Comparison of U.S. and Russian Farm Efficiency

Based on prewar statistics (1939). Source: H. DeGraff in Steelways Magazine November, 1947

The American mastery of modern farming techniques gives us a big edge in strength over any potential aggressor, according to Dr. Herrell DeGraff, outstanding Cornell University agricultural economist.

This is because farm productivity is an accurate measure of a country's industrial strength as well as the health of its population, he said. Writing in Steelways Magazine, Dr. DeGraff said, "Russia, for instance, has yet to win the war of steel plows and the efficiency which they symbolize."

Comparing the agricultural systems of the two countries, he said, "America's basic advantage makes Russia look like a 14-year-old boy pitted against a brawny blacksmith in a weight lifting contest."

"We have to go back to shortly before the Civil War," he added, "to find when the American farmer's productivity was as low as the Russians' in 1938. American agriculture in prewar years turned out six times as much as each worker on the land in Russia."

The use of prewar figures was necessary, Dr. DeGraff explained, for the reason that the Soviets do not give out statistics now. He also said that "even if we had the information, it would hardly be satisfactory to draw a comparison since Russia's agricultural production was far more disrupted by the war than ours was."

Although Russia is the largest nation in the world, containing one-sixth of the world's land area, and with a population one-third greater than that of the United States, agriculturally speaking, Dr. DeGraff pointed out, this nation's output of farm produce in the years for which we have a comparison exceeded Russia's by 50 per cent. Both countries had approximately the same harvested crop acreage, prewar.

"Except in a few operations, Russia's claim to have the most mechanized agriculture in the world is a gross exaggeration," Dr. DeGraff stated. "The bulk of Russian farm work is done by hand while the American farmer, using machines made mostly of steel, supplied by an aggressive American industry, never ceased to expand the effectiveness of his work."

Dr. DeGraff quoted figures to show that the Russian farmer worked 63 hours before the war to grow one acre of corn, while in this country American farmers worked only 16 hours and obtained double the yield. Russians, according to the article, required 330 hours to raise and harvest an acre of cotton. American producers do the same in 91 hours. While the farmer in this country labored 9 hours to raise and harvest an acre of wheat, the Russian farmer took 47 hours and even then got less wheat. Sugar beets, potatoes, milk and poultry production all followed the same pattern.

"The great vitality and productivity of American agriculture has been the basis of the rising strength of the nation and the rising standard of living," Dr. DeGraff said. "We now use only one-sixth of the nation's productive effort to provide for this country and still ship 10 per cent of our farm produce overseas."

Production levels in the United States are ever-increasing, Dr. DeGraff explained, "because individuals have had freedom to work and enjoy the fruits of labor. Under that system we have built an economic system that has stimulated production, individually and in the mass."

"The steel industry and other allied industries, making possible such machines of increasing efficiency, constantly reduce still further the manpower needed to produce food and thus release more men to devise and produce more ways to build higher the level of our civilization."

"Whatever else may be behind the Iron Curtain, we know it hides great weaknesses. Our strength is in plain sight. The steel coming from the mills, the machines from our factories and the production from our farms make it possible to get 'from each according to his ability' in increasing measure, the stuff of life."

HISTORY OF CAMPBELL

By T. A. CUTTING

14.—THE CAMPBELL PARTIES

William Campbell, immigrant ancestor of the Campbells in America, came from Scotland in 1704 and settled in Virginia. One descendant was a captain in the Revolution and another saw service in the War of 1812. In 1816 the family moved to Missouri; and on April 1, 1846, William Campbell left Missouri for California. With him were his wife and their two sons, David and Benjamin. Their married daughters did not come until later.

There were 250 wagons in the train. Some, impatient at the plodding pace set by the leaders, forged ahead, others lagged behind. Those who started off at high speed soon wore out their oxen and were overtaken by those who adopted a moderate pace. The trail followed the Missouri river to Kansas and then the Platte across Nebraska into Wyoming. Thence it crossed Utah to the Humboldt, followed that river across Nevada and finally led over the Sierras to Sacramento.

The buffalos of the plains and the sheep of the Rockies furnished meat for the journey. During the early part of the trip the Indians were friendly and willing to trade; in the West they were treacherous, ready to steal horses or cattle, and on slight provocation even to kill the immigrants. In the train, among others, were the Donners, Reeds, Pyles and the Martins; but the Campbells did not follow them on the Hastings "cut-off", for they knew that their leader had never actually been over the ground before. Instead, they took the tested trail around the north end of Great Salt Lake and so arrived at the pass before snowfall. By doubling up teams on steep climbs and dragging small trees behind the wagons in descent they came through without mishap.

At Sutter's Fort they learned that war had been declared between Mexico and the United States in May, soon after their departure from Missouri, and that the American forces were now in Mexico. They learned, too, that the American settlers about Sacramento had raised the Bear Flag at Sonoma in June and had proclaimed California a republic. On July 7, 1846, Commodore Cloat of the United States Navy entered Monterey and raised the American flag there. This brought to an end the Bear Flag Republic. General Castro, in charge of Mexican forces at Santa Clara, left for the south when he heard what had happened at Monterey. There he joined forces with Pio Pico near San Luis Obispo, but upon the approach of Fremont and Stockton both leaders considered their cause hopeless and departed for Mexico. Their troops scattered to their ranchos.

Stockton, considering the conquest of the south complete, left for San Francisco September 2, 1846, and Fremont marched back to Monterey. Before the month was out, however, a revolt was under way in the south, and in such proportions that the forces left there were quite helpless to put it down. In October Fremont began recruiting new troops. The Californians moved north, and there was a clash of scouts with several fatalities near San Juan. Then the Californians, out of ammunition, again dispersed. Before the uprising in the south was quelled there occurred the most severe encounter of the California campaign. But the Americans won a decisive victory January 9, 1847, which brought an end to the war in California.

Before this, however, there was trouble in the north. Sanchez, owner of one of the ranchos, irked because the Americans requisitioned some of his horses for their troops, decided to make trouble. At the head of about 100 Californians he succeeded in capturing five Americans on December 8, 1846. The Americans quickly gathered an equal number of troops to oppose him. Captain Weber went to Palo Alto in search of him, and failing in this, secured reinforcements from San Francisco. Sanchez suddenly reappeared from the opposite direction where he had been hiding in the Calaveras Valley, descended upon San Jose and demanded its surrender. Lieutenant Pinckney, having fortified the juggado, refused, and finally Sanchez decided not to attack. Upon returning from up the peninsula, Captain Weber discovered Sanchez north of Milliken Corners and sought an engagement, but had difficulty in bringing the well-mounted Californians within range of his guns. Sanchez retreated toward the Santa Cruz mountains and then on January 2 again approached the mission. In the Battle of Santa Clara which followed, three or four men of each of the forces were wounded. On January 8, 1847, Sanchez decided that the cause was hopeless and surrendered his whole force.

Thomas Pyle, who arrived at Sutter's Post soon after the Campbells, enlisted Nov. 1, 1846, under Fremont, and marched south to meet the forces of Castro. By March of the following year the revolt of the Californians seemed to be so thoroughly overcome that the married men were allowed to return to their families.

The Campbells were also drawn into the conflict. The mother took refuge inside the fortified mission, and Benjamin was on guard there during the Battle of Santa Clara. The father and the older brother, David, took part in both the Salinas campaign and in the fighting at the mission. Mexico City was finally taken by the Americans; and the peace treaty was signed February 2, 1848.

High School PTA Enrolls 331

George Bruntz, member of the social science department at San Jose State College, spoke to members of the Campbell high school PTA recently. He discussed The Marshall Plan, giving some of the reasons why the Russian leaders are opposing it. Mr. Bruntz stressed the point that the need for food in Europe is a present need and everyone should do his best to save food.

Preceding the talk, a business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Alfred Weltz, president, after which representatives of the Moreland unit were welcomed. Mrs. Clarence Fagilde announced that the organization now has 331 members with a 100 percent membership of faculty members.

Mrs. R. Allinger told of plans for the card party which will be held in the high school gymnasium Saturday, November 22, at 8 p.m. The budget for the year was read and accepted.

Mrs. G. K. Schrader volunteered to serve as radio chairman and Mrs. E. Gilbert offered her services as movie chairman. The group was urged by Mrs. Fagilde to give its support to the movie program.

Mrs. Rex Fuller gave the inspirational message for the day and sang a solo. Senior mothers were hostesses and served refreshments.

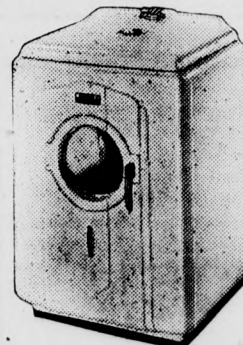

Dec. 10 has been set as the date for the next meeting with Rev. Robert L. Carlson speaking.

Thanksgiving Turkey Should Be Roasted To Moist, Golden Perfection

Thanksgiving turkey can be moist, tender and full of flavor, or dry and disappointing, depending on how it is cooked. Here is a quick refresher course that may help you have a plump, tender, golden brown turkey.

Select a bird with a clean, waxy skin, few pinfeathers and no bruises. Have your butcher remove the leg tendons with the feet. Tendons become hard and dry during roasting and make the drumstick difficult to slice.

Clean the turkey thoroughly by washing inside and out with warm soda water and a brush. To remove stubborn pinfeathers, run cold water on the spot and scrape with the back of a knife in the direction of the growth, or use tweezers. Give the inside a final check, rinse well and drain.

Rub the inside of the bird with salt. Fill the neck cavity with stuffing and fasten the skin to the back with a metal skewer. Don't pack the dressing—it will be soggy and the bird may burst when the dressing expands during the roasting. After stuffing the body, lace the opening with skewers and a heavy cord. (When stuffing a turkey ahead of time, chill the dressing thoroughly.) Tie the legs together and fasten them to the tail. Grease the whole turkey with melted, unsalted fat.

Serving moist turkey meat is the aim of every cook. The secret is simple—roast the turkey in a low-sided, open pan at constant low heat. A covered pan surrounds the bird with steam which tends to draw out the natural juices.

A V-shaped rack, which holds the turkey breast-side down while roasting, makes the white meat more moist. If you use a flat rack, lay the bird on its side and turn it to the other side, half way through the cooking period. Should the skin appear dry before the turkey is done, moisten a cloth with melted fat and lay over it.

To test for doneness, press the fleshy part of the leg with your fingers, protected by a cloth or paper. The meat should feel soft. Don't spear the turkey with a fork because you lose flavorful juices.

If you use a thermometer, your turkey will be done when a thermometer placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle registers 190° F., or when one placed in the center of the dressing registers 180° F.

Do you have trouble making gravy that is smooth and rich? If so, try measuring the fat, flour and liquid according to the following recipe:

TURKEY GRAVY

3 tablespoons drippings
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups liquid
Salt and pepper

Pour drippings from the roasting pan into a bowl. Skim off as much fat as possible and put three tablespoons in a saucepan. Add the flour and blend thoroughly. Measure meat juice and add giblet stock, milk or water to make 2 cups. Set fat and flour over low heat, stirring constantly. Cook until frothy. Add cold liquid all at once. Stir constantly until thickened. Boil briskly about 5 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve boiling hot. Makes 2 cups. Increase the recipe according to the number to be served.

Supreme officers of the order and grand officers of the State of California were the instituting officers during the afternoon.

The ceremony of initiation for 25 candidates was conducted by Laura Keffer, Honored Queen of Bethel 129, San Jose, and her officers.

Merchants Battle Spiralling Costs

Chief result of the recent Congressional committee investigation into reasons for high consumer prices was a "general public clarification of the average merchant's difficult dilemma," said Vincent D. Kennedy, managing director of the California Retailers Association, today in Los Angeles, where that organization elected new directors.

Testimony at the hearings disclosed the average merchant, according to Kennedy, as a "gauntlet runner, who at the source of commodity supply, picks up a heavier cost load than ever in history. He strains through a weltering increase of tax costs, labor costs and other overhead costs that make the final price of the commodity delivered to the customer a deadening burden on the merchant and the consumer alike!"

John D. Bromfield, San Mateo and Burlingame merchant, newly-elected president of the Retailers Association, in a statement to the press declared that "the individual merchant—like his customers—wants an end to the spiraling of prices, and is working aggressively toward that objective." Such stability, he said, is the first objective of the association, and with the cooperation of the consuming public, of labor, of producers and distributors, we can get off the high-cost treadmill and travel a healthier economic road.

pany's Quarter Century club, a national organization honoring those who have been actively associated with the company for 25 years or more.

Attended by friends and company associates, the induction ceremony took place at the St. Francis hotel, San Francisco. Jacobson is the first member to be inducted locally into the San Francisco chapter of the club, which was organized in August of this year.

R. S. Hammond, vice president and general sales manager, Johns-Manville Building Products division, came from New York to officiate at the ceremony and, after complimenting Mr. Jacobson on his achievements with the company, presented him with a gold watch and pin, emblematic of membership in the club. A. P. Hoffman, sales representative of Sacramento, also attended to present Mr. Jacobson with a gift from Johns-Manville associates and friends.

Mr. Jacobson joined the company in 1922 and has been a sales representative in the San Jose area for the past 22 years. A veteran of World War I, he is married and has two children, Marian and Arthur.

ing here was accompanied by letters and telegrams of request by local business men.

In a concurrent move to obtain sorely-needed services for the area, application for a California State-franchised bank was made by W. N. Lloyd, Carl B. Field, O. C. Jensen, Guy E. Farley and G. K. Schrader.

The building that formerly housed American Trust Company and its predecessors, first was occupied in 1911 by the Bank of Campbell, which was first organized in 1898 in the building now used by Guy Farley's real estate business.

In 1918 the Bank of Campbell merged with the Garden City Bank and Trust company of San Jose and was known under that name until 1922 when the Garden City Bank and the Mercantile Trust company were brought out by the American Trust company. In 1924 American Trust company bought out the Growers Bank which occupied the building now known as the Campbell Theater and the bank moved into that building. Then, in February of 1938, the bank was closed. Campbell has been without a bank since that time.

When the bank moved out of the building on the corner of Campbell and Central avenues, the Ford agency took over the building and used the premises as a display room, cutting a large archway from the building now used by the Busy Bee, where they had their office.

The Campbell Water company next occupied the building from 1929 to 1942, and more recently the Campbell Products were located there.

The building is owned by A. A. Arends.

To Build Pool At La Rinconada

Andy Anrys, for the last six years with the Ste. Claire hotel in San Jose as assistant manager and executive, recently took over management of the La Rinconada clubhouse on a ten year lease. He revealed extensive improvements would be made and a new swimming pool constructed in 1948.

Anrys will manage the clubhouse, while Dr. Sol Leider, owner of the course, will retain full control of the golf course proper. Included in the proposed changes will be installation of rubber tiling throughout the building, a new cocktail lounge, a rest lounge, and refurnishing completely. Cost will be about $8500.

In the contract, Dr. Leider agreed to let a contract for a 30 by 75-foot outdoor pool not later than January 1, 1948, the new manager said. It will be lighted for night use.

Also added to the staff will be Chef Michael Mora, formerly of the Ste. Claire Kitchens and renowned for his ability.

Perlite Company Reorganized

A. G. Keating, former War Production Board chief of mining for Arizona, California and Nevada, was Nov. 1 elected to head the National Perlite Co. of Campbell as President of the board of directors. He and C. W. Scribner, elected secretary, join the previous three-man board to make a total of five.

Elected vice-president was Chester R. Smith, well-known local contractor; Leroy R. Goodrich, Oakland attorney, and George J. Weiser, an Oakland public accountant.

National Perlite last year placed on the market a new lightweight aggregate for building purposes that is fireproof, an insulating material and materially lessens the weight of concrete when used with cement.

Expansion now under way at the Campbell plant will allow the firm to crush approximately ten tons of rock ore per hour and operate efficiently at top capacity.

ST. LUCY'S CLUB PARTY
In charge of an afternoon card party planned by St. Lucy's club for Nov. 28 are Mesdames Mary Triguero, chairman, John Seta, Basil Curtner, Manuel Silva and Bert Metcalf. Refreshments will be served.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together" (Psalms 34:3). This is the Golden Text for the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Christian Science churches on Thanksgiving Day. The subject is "Thanksgiving."

Included in the sermon are: Malachi: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, said the Lord of Hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: Christians rejoice in secret beauty and bounty, hidden from the world but known to God. Self-forgetfulness, purity, and affection are constant prayers. Practice not profession, understanding not belief, gain the ear and right hand of omnipotence and they assuredly call down infinite blessing.

Tickets On Sale For Campbell-Los Gatos Game

An advance sale of tickets for the Campbell-Los Gatos football game on Thanksgiving Day at Los Gatos is now being held. Persons holding tickets will be entitled to seats up to game time, which is scheduled at 11:45.

Lawrence Hill, principal, said that tickets for the 1600 seats are now available at Benson and Jeffers, Campbell Water company office, Clark's Drugs, and the office of the high school. When all available seat tickets have been sold no others will be presented for sale until time for the game to start.

The advance sale is being made because of the confusion resulting from last year's Thanksgiving day game when several hundred persons were without a seat. The Los Gatos-Campbell game promises to be a highlight of the season when the two local teams tangle in a crucial contest.

Both teams are evenly matched and have won nearly all their games so far this season.

The night before the game a banquet for the football varsity and their fathers has been scheduled in Bues' Cove. Many Campbell alumni are looking forward to attending the game in Los Gatos and cheering the local team on to victory. Tickets are priced at $1.

More than 300 business and civic leaders from the valley communities are expected to attend, according to Patrick H. Peabody, general chairman of the campaign.

Dr. John W. Cline, prominent San Francisco surgeon and president of the California Medical Society, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be Dr. John Hunt Shepherd, San Jose physician and surgeon and former chief of staff at O'Connor's; and David C. Peabody pointed out the meeting is not for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions.

"Nobody will be asked to give a dollar at the banquet," he said. "This is a meeting at which we will put before the business and civic leadership of Santa Clara Valley the facts about the hospital situation which exists here."

The new O'Connor's, which will replace the present old fashioned building, is to be a modern, eight-story structure with complete facilities for taking care of 300 patients.
